Bio

Graphic Designer from Buenos Aires, started his design career as an Art Director for Levi's jeans in Argentina, created a magazine for the brand and designed a new look for retail stores in the country. Also, designed a fashion show backdrop for HUGO BOSS.

Upon arrival to NYC started working on private and corporate events for the most talented event designers in the USA, traveling all over the world.

Later on he opened an event design and production company "Kuki Design Group" creating events for "Good Housekeeping" magazine, DIRECTV, Pepsi, Super Bowl weekend and Corona for music festivals. He won the 2011 Texas Star Award and the 2012 ISES Spirit Award.

In the early 90's a friend gifted him two rolls of tape and he got inspired to decorate the walls of his apartment with it, and this was the beginning of his TAPE ARTIST career "creating installations at many locations in the East Village, Brooklyn, Queens, Las Vegas and Miami".

Right after lockdown he started the activations for "Open Streets" around NYC's five boroughs for East Village Community Coalition, Myrtle Avenue Partnership, FAB Fulton, Downtown Brooklyn Partnership and NYC DOT.

He also created virtual reality Art shows at T.A.G. The Artists Gallery.
