

Akuro

Before Akuro got heavily into making music he began by writing poetry in high school. Which helped direct the creative energy towards self expression. With the main focus being story telling writing and music production was the catalyst for that. At this point in his career He wants to continue bringing his heritage into the work more.

Akuro released his first musical project in 2012 under the name Roma. Which was his artist name at the time and is apart of his middle name “Iboroma”. Always interested in a challenge to help himself grow, he began making films. Early on as a kid he got into it by doing being a PA for his brother.

After 10+ years of making and creating musical projects, music videos, clothing and film. He looks to expand into creating workshops and activations to reach the youth through the arts.
